Course Numbering

Each course is designated by an abbreviation which stands for the subject area of the course, followed by a number.

- Courses numbered from 1-99 are generally not applicable for credit toward a baccalaureate degree but some are applicable to certificates.
- Courses numbered from 100-199 are initial or introductory courses.
- Courses numbered from 200-299 are generally second-year courses in a sequence or development within a field of study.
- Courses ending in -92, -94, or -96 are special topics courses dealing with timely issues or unique subject matter not included in the main curriculum. These courses may be infrequently offered.
- Courses ending in -97 or -98 are experimental courses proposed for inclusion in the main curriculum and are offered for only one year on this basis.
- Courses ending in -99 are independent study courses such as directed reading, research or field work experience.
- The suffix "L," when used, designates a laboratory course which is a companion course (whether required or not) to a given lecture course.
- The suffix "V," when used, designates variable credit. The credit to be earned is arranged with the instructor by each student at the time of registration.
- The suffix "WI," when used in the class schedule, designates a Writing Intensive course.

HAP Hawaiian, Asian, and Pacific Issues

Hawaiian, Asian, and Pacific Issues (HAP): HAP-designated courses focus on issues in Hawaiian and Asian or Pacific cultures and history and promote cross-cultural understanding between nations and cultures. Courses listed in the class schedule with the HAP designation are intended to fulfill HAP-focus requirements at any other UH campus. HAP-designated class satisfy the following hallmarks:

- The course content reflects the intersection of Asian and/or Pacific Island cultures with Native Hawaiian culture.
- The course encourages learning from the cultural perspectives, values, and world views rooted in the experience of peoples indigenous to Hawai'i, the Pacific, and Asia.
- The course includes an understanding of one or more of the following: the histories, cultures, beliefs, the arts, the societal, political, economic, or technological processes of these regions (for example, the relationships of societal structures to the natural environment).
- The course involves an in-depth analysis or understanding of the issues in order to foster multi-cultural respect and understanding.
